DryRunResult

No description

The error that occurred during dry run execution, if any.

The intermediate results for each command of the dry run execution, including contents of mutated references and return values.

The transaction block representing the dry run execution.

dryRunTransactionBlock query